A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as a dangerous thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body, whose organs are weary with over work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress "small of back," perhaps nausea, or "sluggishness" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or cure you more permanently than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly. It sticks to its work until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of native medicinal roots with a full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and extolled by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret medicine of known composition.

HARRIS'S TRIAL.

Prof. J. D. Harris, principal of Warrenton High School, took the stand in his own defense late yesterday, and told the jury before which he is on trial for his life why he shot and fatally wounded W. A. Thompson, editor of the Warrenton Virginia on April 24 last.

During the two hours he was under examination Harris remained calm, and the prosecution was unable to confuse him. He said that he tried to avoid the encounter with Thompson which resulted in the tragedy. When however they met and Thompson attacked him, he drew his revolver in self-defense, but deliberately fired into the ground from a kneeling position, into which he had been forced by Thompson's blows.

He said he fired merely to frighten Thompson into ceasing the assault upon him. It was while he was rising from his knees, he said, that he fired the shot which inadvertently took effect in Thompson's abdomen and resulted in his death 24 hours later. He said that he had no intention of killing Thompson.

He recited the events leading up to the shooting. He said Thompson had heaped insult after insult upon him for months preceding, because of a dispute they had over a bill. The witness was subjected to a volley of questions, but he answered them all clearly, and appeared confident when he stepped from the stand.

When court reconvened yesterday afternoon, M. W. Strother, who was an eyewitness to the shooting, was placed on the stand. He said that while walking on the street with Prof. Harris they were overtaken by Thompson, who uttered an oath, apparently at Harris, whereupon the latter stepped into the street and called to Irwin Maxheimer, who was near by, to take Thompson away, as he didn't want to have any trouble with the editor.

Thompson, the witness added, stepped forward quickly before Maxheimer could interfere and struck Harris in the face, bringing him to his knees. Maxheimer then interposed, and Strother saw two shots fired toward the ground. Harris moved around, apparently with an effort, and brought his revolver against Thompson's body. Strother testified to seeing a flash and hearing a muffled report. He left the scene and did not hear the fourth shot.

Strother's testimony was so much at variance with what the state expected to prove that Commonwealth's Attorney Keith asked the court to be given the privilege of regarding Strother as an adverse witness and to be later cross-examined.

A contract for some printing which Professor Harris awarded to the Warrenton Virginia of which Thompson was business manager, and which was subsequently taken away from Thompson and given to a business rival, laid the foundation for the trouble between the two men, which finally culminated in the killing of Thompson.

TOLD OF HER HUSBAND'S MURDER.

Mrs. Helen Fauling, widow of W. N. Fauling, jr., alleged to have been slain by Charles Gordon, gave startling testimony yesterday at the trial of Gordon, Hinesville, Ga. On the witness stand she swore that Gordon had confessed to her that he had killed Fauling. She admitted that she had been intimate with Gordon for three years. Fauling's body was found partially buried in a field many days after he was slain. Mrs. Fauling said:

"I met Gordon in Florida and have known him three years. My husband and I moved to Savannah, and Gordon moved also. We first became intimate at Lufkin, Fla. Our meetings continued up to the time of his arrest. The night before the officers came for Gordon he spent at my home. My husband left at sundown, and at supper time he had not returned. Several friends had supper with me, and we did not wait for him. Just before we finished supper Gordon came in and, calling me aside, said: 'I have done it. I have killed the—.' I was very much frightened and nearly fainted, but Gordon caught me and told me to be calm, as he was not afraid. He then tried to get me to go help him bury the body, but I refused. I saw Gordon next morning, and he told me where he had buried the body, and told me to keep a lookout and to tell him if anybody was talking about it. Gordon told me Tuesday night that if I told any one he would kill me within the next 24 hours. That was the reason for my silence. Since he has been in jail he has written me a letter, trying to concoct a scheme to prove an alibi for him. I am confessing because I don't want to go to heaven, or hell, with a lie on my lips," she sobbed.

A REVOLTING CEREMONY.

As a result of a revolting ceremony, the feature of which was the frenzied dancing of men and women before an open-air altar whereon the nude body of a dead girl had been exposed for four days and nights, the Los Angeles, Cal., authorities have been asked to expel the members of a Russian sect which is said to combine all the objectionable practices of the Doukhobors and other fanatical emotionalists. The ceremony complained of ended Tuesday night after the protests had become so insistent that the members of the sect felt impelled to inter the body of the girl, which had become black with long exposure. In reply to complaints of the neighbors, the Russians explained that the weird ceremony, with its shrieks, howling and dancing about the nude bodies of the dead, was their way of mourning for girls who had died on the threshold of womanhood.

CIGARS.
